Crime down in Haverhill

Police figures show an overall drop, but sex offences and burglaries are up

OVERALL crime is dropping across Haverhill, but burglaries, sexual offences and drug crimes have risen.

DEBRA FOX

In a police report presented to town councillors on Tuesday, Sergeant Gary Miller said the reported number of crimes are at a low compared to a three-year average.

A total of 973 crimes across Haverhill, Kedington, Clare and the surrounding villages have been reported to the police since April 1 this year, compared to the average of 1,049.

These crimes include assault, criminal damage, arson, and anti-social behaviour.

Burglaries, thefts, robberies and shoplifting have increased from 470 to 496, drug offences have gone up to 53 from the previous figure of 36 and sexual crimes have risen to 24 from the average of 20.

Inspector Peter Ferrie said: "At the moment in Haverhill we have several drug dealing businesses that are operating in the town and this has caused tensions within the drug fraternity.

"We have seen an increase in street robbery and burglary, that have been driven by either competition between drug gangs or the need to get quick cash to allow drug addicts to score."

With support from specialist resources from Norfolk, officers have made moves to target a number of prolific drug dealers.

Large quantities of drugs and money have been seized, and stolen property has also been returned.

Haverhill has recently fallen victim to a spate of night-time burglaries.

An arrest was made on August 27, and Alexander Hockett, of Elmond Place, Haverhill, has been remanded in custody pending an appearance at Ipswich Crown Court on September 10.

The 32-year-old has been charged with a burglary in Beaumont Vale between August 20 and August 23, when a handbag, two wallets containing bank cards and £180 in cash were taken.

Speaking at Tuesday's meeting, Sgt Miller said: "There have been an increased number of officers conducting foot and vehicle patrols in hot spots, and officers from CID have been conducting plain clothed patrols.

"Intelligence has also been increased around people who may have done this sort of crime."

WORK TO START: Will Austin at the old police station and court, which will soon be up and running as a hub for youth activities
Pictures by David Johnson

First look at town's new youth centre

WORK is about to begin to bring an innovative youth hub scheme to fruition in Haverhill.

During the town's community budget input, it was discovered that residents were concerned about the future of the young people in the area – and wanted a place for them to be able to develop their skills.

The budget, championed by ONE Haverhill, was revealed in June this year and detailed that a one-stop shop for youth services would be coming to the town.

Haverhill's town council took on the challenge of finding a potential site for the service, and work is now due to begin on the old magistrates court and police station, in Camps Road.

Town clerk Will Austin said that the youth services could start running in the centre as early as next month.

He said: "We are already looking at how to get the refurbishment done very quickly, and we still think we can have the youth part up and running by October or November."

It is now ONE Haverhill's responsibility to engage with the young people in the town to decide how the building is going to be used, and what sort of services are going to be housed there.

Though the town council have committed to the running of the venue, giving £230,000 to the project in the first year and £80,000 per year after, a youth co-ordinator has been appointed to oversee the progress of the project as it unfolds.

Karen Chapple will be responsible for creating more opportunities for Haverhill's young people, including apprenticeships, training programmes and regular guidance events.

The new youth co-ordinator will present a plan for youth services, particularly those aimed at children 11 and older, to the ONE Haverhill board soon.

She said: "Haverhill is a lovely place to live and bring up children and it really is an amazing opportunity for me, someone who grew up in the town, to support the young people here."

"I have found through working with youngsters that the right support at the right time can make a huge difference in their lives. It literally can be life changing."

A main part of the youth initiative will be showing that the young people in Haverhill have got the support around them they need to improve their skills and options.

Town mayor Cllr Roger André can't wait for the work to get under way.

He said: "I am not easily excited, but I am extremely excited about this because we have been working for three years to get something for youth services in Haverhill."

"Hopefully by November we will see something we intended to do years ago."

An art exhibition asks: what does peace mean to you?

CONTRIBUTORS to a new art exhibition in Haverhill have been asked to illustrate their idea of peace.

Havepeace, the town's peace group, are hosting an exhibition at the Arts Centre throughout September to promote non-violent methods of reconciliation.

The display shows local, national and international answers to peace, including contributions from school-children in the area.

Other pieces of art have come from the Freedom of Torture therapy group – which has served 50,000 people in 25 years.

A spokesman for Havepeace said: "We are grateful to the many organisations who have encouraged, supported and contributed to our exhibition."

Ditch the unwanted togs and do your charity bit

UNWORN clothes could make more than £100 for the British Heart Foundation in one donation.

The charity are launching their Great British bag-athon this month, and shops up and down the country are calling for unwanted attire to help in the battle against heart disease.

A British Heart Foundation survey has revealed that the average person from the East of England owns three pieces of clothing they haven't worn – and these could be worth £111.

Haverhill manager Deanna Richardson said: "We need all of that stock as it has dropped down again."

Visit the store on Haverhill's high street or call 01440 703245.

Time for a new look

Councillors would like to get a clock for the town centre... what sort would you like?

DEBRA FOX

SOON there will be no excuse for arriving late to work, asking people for the time or losing yourself in the shops.

Haverhill Town Council is working to install a town clock, and want the community's help in deciding what the new time-piece should look like.

Town clerk Will Austin is urging everyone to get in touch with their suggestions, and make their own stamp on the town's new addition.

He said: "Originally, we just wanted something to allow people to tell the time when they are waiting for the buses – but then we thought perhaps we could have something different."

"Some may want to see a new clock become a town feature and others may want something that simply tells the time."

The town's old clock, in Jubilee Walk, was removed for refurbishment and never replaced.

The bus station was due to get a new clock, which would be linked to real time passenger information for travellers.

After a delay was reported in this project too, the town council pledged to help get a clock installed either into the bus station, or the surrounding area.

Mr Austin said: "The indications were that any clock would have to wait until the installation of real time passenger information, which wouldn't be before 2015."

"I was disappointed to hear that it would take two years to get a clock into the bus station area – and now we're looking for your views."

If a decision is made that the new clock will become a town feature as opposed to a basic time-tracker, there is no telling what form it could take.

Newmarket boasts a clock tower on the High Street, built in honour of Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee in 1887, while the chimes ring out in Bury St Edmunds market square from Moyses's Hall Museum.

Ely has the best of both worlds, with a simple and classic black and white clock hanging above the market place, and a grand black and gold feature on the city's cathedral which chimes every hour.

The Corpus Clock, which looks out onto Kings Parade in Cambridge, was opened in 2008 by Stephen Hawking.

Gold-plated, adorned with LED lights and with an insect sculpture perched on top, the clock has been controversial from the off – but a talking point nonetheless.

Mr Austin said: "Should we be going basic, or spending a bit more public money on something to become a feature for the town?"

"If you think the latter, what sort of clock would be appropriate for Haverhill?"

You can submit your own suggestions for Haverhill's new clock to Will Austin via email, phone or post.

Go to townclerk@haverhill-tc.gov.uk, call 01440 712858 or write to Haverhill Arts Centre, High Street, Haverhill, CB9 8AR.

Town council: make your voice heard

SHOPPERS and residents are being encouraged to have their say on the local high street before it is too late.

Suffolk County Council has recently held a transport survey, inviting everyone to submit their views on pedestrianisation of Haverhill High Street.

The views are going to be taken and used in a workshop, before being presented to the town in an open air presentation.

This will take place in the market square on Saturday, September 14.

Members of the public are invited along to ask questions and learn more about the options for the future – and have their say.

Town clerk Will Austin is one of those urging people to speak their minds to ensure an accurate representation of what people want comes to light.

He said: "We certainly don't want any lack of participation to be seen as a lack of interest locally.

"We know that people have strong views and I would urge residents to spare a few minutes to tell the county what they think of the High Street now, and what could be done now and in the future to improve it."

The town clerk is also volunteering to fill out the online survey for those who want to express their opinion, but do not have the internet.

Hunt goes on for missing man, 33

CONCERNS are growing for a Bury St Edmunds man who has not been seen since last Thursday.

Aaron Stafford Weibel, 33, was reported missing to police officers on August 31.

The 33-year-old has reportedly not taken his medication with him and members of the public have been warned not to approach him.

Mr Weibel, who has links with Haverhill and Thetford, is white, around 5ft 9ins to 5ft 10ins tall, of stocky build, with dark hair. He is described as being of scruffy appearance and may be unshaven.

When he was last seen, he was wearing a big blue coat, long blue jumper, dark blue jeans and trainers.

He was also carrying a duffle bag.

Call 999 if you see Mr Weibel, or call Suffolk Police on 101 if you have any information about his whereabouts.

Fight begins for Corn Exchange

ONE of Haverhill's most enchanting buildings could be rescued from ruin as plans emerge to buy out the Corn Exchange.

The building, on Withersfield Road, is currently on the market for around £200,000.

After years of it being left to crumble, UKIP councillor Tony Brown has stepped in to try and transform the building into something good.

The county councillor, who represents Haverhill East and Kedington, has said that the town should not be robbed of another beautiful building that could bring so much to the area.

He said: "It's a grade two listed building, and it's currently in a state of disrepair.

"We haven't got much left in the town to save, and it's a much admired building."

The first step will be contacting the private landlord, and securing the money to take the building over.

Then refurbishment can start.

Cllr Brown attended Haverhill Town Council's full council meeting on Tuesday to ask for support in his bid.

He hopes that the building could be transformed into a heritage centre to preserve the town's history.

The councillor said: "Most towns of 10,000 people or more have their own heritage centre, but we haven't got a town museum or anything like that.

"It would be a nice place to hold the town's history."

Town councillors expressed their support for the scheme – but said that their attempt to take over the Corn Exchange in previous years had failed due to the cost involved.

Since then, the building has fallen in price, but it is thought that the refurbishment costs – which were up to half a million pounds a few years ago – could still be the same.

Deputy town mayor Cllr Maureen Byrne said: "I think we should put issues to the conservation officer to bring back this building so that the public can use it.

"I think Cllr Brown should go ahead as far as he possibly can and keep us up to date on any progress."

Cllr Clive Turner said: "If it brings more jobs and more good things to Haverhill, then good for it."

It is hoped that the public will want to get behind the scheme too, and assist in bringing the building up to scratch when it hopefully falls into the town's possession again.

Cllr Brown is going to discuss his proposal with the ONE Haverhill board in a meeting later this month, and is urging residents to get involved in bringing this building back to life.

New term starts for Hedgehogs

A VILLAGE pre-school opened its doors yesterday for the new term after a refurbishment.

Hundon Hedgehogs, based in the village hall, has gone through a complete transformation over the summer.

The school, formerly Hundon Tiddlywinks, is now open five days a week – including breakfast and after school clubs – and meets in its own designated area of the village hall.

Pre-school manager Lisa Arnold said: "Children are allowed to make their own choices in the activities they'd like to engage in, and are given lots of scope for exploration and expression in an engaging, beautiful and interesting environment.

"Our aim is to inspire confidence, stimulate curiosity, and nurture a sense of wellbeing through nature."

The pre-school also has close links with the village's primary school and provides opportunities for Hedgehogs children to visit on a regular basis.

Family plan skydive in memory of Cissie

SKYDIVING: Rob, Jay and Stuart Ketteridge from Haverhill

A HAVERHILL man is facing one of his fears in the name of fundraising.

Stuart Ketteridge, 29, is taking on a 13,000 ft skydive – despite not being a fan of heights – and hopes to raise £5,000 for the Stroke Association too.

The 29-year-old, of Templars Court, Haverhill, is being joined for the drop by brothers Rob and Jay, dad Alan and sister-in-law Vania who are all taking the plunge in honour of grandmother Cissie Davis.

She died of a stroke in 2010, just days before turning 81.

Stuart said: "She is much missed by us all.

"It would be incredible to think that our fundraising could help other families living with the devastating effects of stroke, so we're hoping as many people as possible support us."

All three brothers have each taken on a challenge in honour of turning 30 and brother Rob, 34, suggested a skydive.

Stuart agreed, but with his one condition. He said: "Originally I wasn't keen but then I decided 'why not?'. But I'd only do it if we raise money for the Stroke Association in memory of our Nan.

"It's a strange feeling, I find myself looking at the clouds wondering, 'am I really going to drop from there?'"

Stuart, Rob and Jay, 37, were always going to take to the skies as a trio – but dad Alan, 61, and sister-in-law Vania, 29, wanted to help out the cause too.

The team have raised almost 30 per cent of their target amount, and currently have £1,400.

Stuart and his family will drop 13,000 ft on Sunday, September 7.

The 29-year-old said: "The closer we get to the date the more I'm looking forward to it.

"To be honest I started quite petrified, but excited about it now."

George Burroughs, regional fundraising manager at the Stroke Association, said that the work of Stuart and his family enables the charity to work towards improving care for stroke sufferers.

He said: "Sadly Stuart's family is not alone. Over 11,000 people have a stroke in the East of England each year.

"Through the support of our incredible fundraisers like Stuart, his family and friends, the Stroke Association can continue to provide support to stroke survivors and their families, as well as funding research and campaigning for better stroke services and care."

To support the family's skydive, visit www.justgiving.com/k-s-at1300k or text C1580 with a donation to 70070.

Session in networking for businesses

HAVERHILL businesses will learn more about each other in a speed networking event.

The session, organised by thebestof Haverhill and the town's chamber of commerce, is part of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's business festival.

A range of activities will run across West Suffolk from September 11 -20.

Paul Donno, chairman of Haverhill chamber and director of accountancy practice Jacobs Allen, said that they regularly hold networking events and decided to join forces with thebestof Haverhill to provide for all of the town's businesses.

He said: "There are lots of different activities taking place in Bury St Edmunds and we didn't want Haverhill businesses to miss out and thought that speed networking was something a little bit different."

The event will take place at Haverhill Arts Centre on September 18 from 5.30-9pm.

Tickets are £14 for members of the chamber and thebest of Haverhill, and £18 for non-members.

Admission excludes VAT and includes a light buffet supper.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestof Haverhill, said: "We are also using the services of business coach John Porter, from Business Improvements, to manage the timings, which require a military precision if everyone is to meet each of the other 31 people attending within the allotted time."

Places are limited and tickets are allocated on a first come, first served basis.

If you would like to attend the event go to www.suffolkchamber.co.uk/haverhill to book tickets.

You can also contact Elaine Carr via 01440 710 158 or Haverhill@thebestof.co.uk.

Pedestrianisation would kill our High Street

TO go ahead with the pedestrianisation of the High Street between these hours, I think would kill the High Street stone dead.

The High Street in its entirety isn't big enough to cope with the loss of trade.

The whole of the High Street needs to be modernised; it's 2013, not 1963, in 50 years shops have come and gone but the visual overall shape has changed very little.

Take the car out of the equation, the High Street in essence then loses its identity. If Joe Public is so concerned about the traffic, then bring back the traffic warden.

Pedestrianisation can only work if the town is big enough, sadly Haverhill is not, maybe when we have 30,000 plus, and a shopping centre, but not now.

Think about the animals' welfare

IT'S the end of the summer holidays and parents are gearing up for the daily routine of getting their children to school on time, in uniform, carrying their reading book and the all-important packed lunch.

Thanks to Jamie Oliver there's now more awareness about the healthiness of school meals but I urge parents to please also spare a thought for the farm animals that produce our food.

I asked my mummy friends whether they consider animal welfare when shopping for their kids' sandwich fillers. Most said "yes" but the belief that higher welfare food costs more put them off looking for it.

Whilst higher welfare food can sometimes cost more, it doesn't always.

Even if you can't afford to buy higher welfare such as Freedom Food for your kids' packed

– Jeff Harrison, Through the Year in a Nature Photographer's Garden

Jeff Harrison has kept a photographic record of his garden in Longstanton for 35 years.

Being a naturalist with a great interest in wildlife and the environment, Jeff planned the quarter of an acre plot of his new house in 1977, not only to look attractive but to secure lasting habitats for nature's residents, birds, wild animals and even insects.

His illustrated talk to U3A began with photographs of his garden developing with lawns, hedges and specimen trees in addition to the very well constructed water feature with a 35 foot long stream connecting a high pond to a lower one, a photograph of which won him a prestigious award from a gardening magazine.

Jeff showed us some remarkable pictures of rare and more common birds feeding in winter and as he progressed through his "photographic year", brought to life the seasonal activity of his visitors, including kingfishers, badgers and dragon flies, all beautifully to show the colour and characteristics of the species as well as macro shots of plants and flowers.

He always has a camera set up in the house to record unexpected events in his garden, like the time Mallard ducklings fell out uninjured from a nest built 10 feet up an ivy covered wall.

Jeff's stunning pictures have appeared in magazines and National Trust literature and his website continues to attract many hits from naturalists and photographers who appreciate his dedication to capture so well the beauty of nature.

The next meeting on 24 September is Enrolment and Open Day, when groups will display results of the year's activities, from 10.30am at the Arts Centre.

Fun for all at village's annual fayre

NEARLY 2,000 visitors flocked to a family fun fayre in Thurlow.

The event took place on the sports ground on Sunday, and raised £5,000 for village organisations.

The day provided a range of activities for parents and children, including archery and face painting as well as a maypole dancing display from Thurlow School.

There was a classic car display and car boot sale, plus live entertainment from the Hadstock Silver Band, The Eighties Band and Nice Manors from Castle Manor Academy.

Sweet taste of business success

THE desire to find something with the wow factor for their own wedding was the trigger to drive a Haverhill couple to start their own business, to provide exactly that.

Abbey and David Farrant launched Nuts about Sweets shortly after their wedding in June 2011.

The pair, of Chaplains Close, Haverhill, were desperate to leave their wedding guests talking about that little extra something.

It wasn't until after their nuptials that Abbey and David had the perfect idea – wooden carts laden with sweet treats.

Abbey, 27, said: "When we were planning the wedding we wanted something fun to entertain the guests and we never found anything that hit the spot."

"We kept talking about it and a week or two after the wedding

we had the idea and decided to go for it."

The first cart belonging to the Nuts about Sweets fleet was handcrafted by David, 27, who works as a carpenter, in August 2011.

The couple loaded it up with pick and mix bins, perfect for guests to help themselves, and headed to Newmarket Wedding Fair. They took eight bookings that day and never looked back.

A second cart was built due to high demand and a third one followed in May this year.

Nuts About Sweets was created as an extra earner for the pair, who have a 15-month-old daughter, Ellie.

Abbey said: "People really love the carts because they are so unique and good quality."

Abbey and David have recently started stocking their carts with savory snacks, a range of gourmet popcorn flavours – including madras curry, toffee apple cinnamon and cheese on toast – and have branched out to include a chocolate fountain, rotating Ferrero Rocher tower and decorative centrepieces.

A cart specially designed for children's parties is also in the making, and Nuts About Sweets can now kit out your Christmas party, panto or corporate event.

Abbey, who works for the Animal Health Trust in Newmarket, hopes that by this time next year they will be full time.

She said: "We're trying to do as much as we can to push it to full time. It's my passion and I just want to be able to get going with it now."

Woman cautioned after false sex attack reports

A FORMAL caution has been handed to a woman who falsely claimed she was sexually assaulted.

The woman, who is 20 years old and lives in Haverhill, contacted police on August 7 and said she had been the victim of a sex attack the previous evening.

She said it happened in an alleyway off Horsham Close, in Haverhill, and that an unknown man had approached her and assaulted her.

A Suffolk Police spokesman said: "Following a full and thorough investigation by police the woman admitted to officers that the allegations were fabricated and she has received a formal caution.

"Suffolk Police would encourage anyone who is a victim of a sexual offence to get in contact immediately and we assure everyone that all reports are taken very seriously and are fully investigated."

The woman was cautioned for wasting police time.

ON YOUR BIKE:
Barry Everall is cycling on September 10
from Haverhill to Thetford and back.

AN amateur cyclist is limbering up to take on a 100-mile round trip.

Barry Everall, of Shardlow
Close, Haverhill, is trying to raise £500 for Cancer Research by getting on his bike.

The 40-year-old will cycle from Haverhill to Thetford, passing through Mildenhall and Brandon en route, on September 10.

Barry said: "I took up cycling last year and because I was always cycling my son Reece said why didn't I do something for charity – so we came up with this together."

The dad has never taken on such a long journey before, and has been putting in lots of practice to ensure he's challenge ready.

He said: "I've done a practice cycle to Bury but I've never cycled that far before." Go to Man, 23, jailed for late-night robbery

A MAN has been jailed for three years and nine months after an attack on two men.

Daniel Dale, 23, of Gannet Close, Haverhill, joined three others in a robbery which took place in Bury St
Edmunds last year.

His two victims were walking home along Oaks Road in Bury St Edmunds on August
15, 2012, shortly before
2.30am.

They heard footsteps running behind them and were grabbed.

Richard Kelly, prosecuting, told how one of the men was ordered to hand over his wallet.

As the pair tried to fend off their attackers, two other men arrived and joined in with the robbery.

A bottle was smashed over one of the victim's head, cutting him, and the other was repeatedly punched and kicked, causing bruises and swelling to his face.

The robbers escaped with a rucksack, which had clothing, tobacco and a silver watch containing a lock of the victim's mother's hair inside.

Police later retrieved the watch from the glovebox of Dale's car when they pulled him over.

The 23-year-old pleaded guilty and was sentenced at Ipswich Crown Court on August 30.

He was also ordered to pay a £120 victim surcharge.

Lindsay Cox, mitigating, said that Dale had been drinking at the time of the burglary and denied demanding money from the victims.

Judge David Goodin hailed the robbery as a serious incident that demanded immediate custody.

Golf fundraiser in memory of Maggie

AN afternoon of golf is going ahead next week in honour of a teenager who lost her battle with cancer.

Maggie Vale died of stomach cancer in 2008 when she 14 and dad John, 54, has once again organised the annual fundraiser in her name.

Previously, the yearly golf events have raised £2,000 each.

This year, funds will go towards the Teenage Cancer Trust (TCT) unit at Addenbrooke's and EACH.

Call the club on 01440 761951 for more. The event is on September 10 at Haverhill Golf Club.

Passed away, Tuesday,
August 13th, 2013.

*When I come to the end of the road
And the sun has set for me,
I want no tears in a gloom-filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?*

*Miss me a little But not for long
And not with your head bowed low,
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me But let me go.*

*For this is a journey we all must take,
And each must go alone,
It's all a part of the Masters plan
A step on the road to home.*

*When you are lonely and sick of heart
Go to your friends that we know,
And bury your sorrows in doing good works,
Miss me But let me go.*

'Head shave will give me a better understanding what my cancer patients go through'

DEBRA FOX

A HOSPICE nurse has had her head shaved in support of the patients she helps every day.

Heather Magill works for a "hospice at home" project which enables patients to spend their remaining days at home and with their families.

The team, which was set up three years ago, has eight nurses and 15 healthcare assistants – but it costs £250 for them to cover a nine-hour night shift in the community.

Their work is funded by the Arthur Rank Charity.

Heather, of Raine Avenue, Haverhill, hailed Jessie J as her inspiration for the challenge. The singer shaved her head for Comic Relief earlier this year.

She said: "We often nurse patients who have undergone chemotherapy and as a result, have suffered hair loss. In having my head shaved it will enable me better understanding of how to cope with questions and stares."

Heather also embarked on the haircut in memory of her son-in-law's mother Patricia Hall, who died of cancer in June.

Heather, 54, had her head shaved yesterday at D:Fine on Haverhill's High Street.

She said: "She was a very brave lady, and although she suffered a lot of pain, her main concern was for the effects on her family."

HEAD SHAVED: Heather with stylist Tara Knight.

"Pat's loss has had a great impact on their lives."

The nurse has been preparing her three grandchildren Maria, 5, Pippa, 2, and 3-year-old Ellis, for the shock of seeing their grandma with no hair.

Heather said: "I've been pulling my hair back from my face and pointing at bald men in the streets, so I hope they don't get too much of a shock."

The mum-of-two is also holding a motown disco on Saturday at The White Lion in Sawston high street from 8pm.

She hopes this will add to her fundraising total, which is currently at more than £1,000. Go to www.justgiving.com/heather-magill

Party to help the rhinos cancelled

A FUNDRAISER organised to protect rhinos has been cancelled.

Anna and Ted Fairhead of Hill Farm, West Wickham, went to South Africa in January for a dream holiday amongst the rhinos.

The pair were so inspired by their experience that they decided to host a party to raise funds for a drone – an aircraft that tracks poachers.

But due to lack of ticket sales, the event has now been cancelled.

The couple had hoped to raise £10,000 to protect the creatures, who are at risk of being killed for medicinal purposes.

For more information about Anna and Ted's trip and to find out more about helping the animals go to www.rhinomercy.org

One week left to apply for grants

COMMUNITY groups and organisations have one week left to apply for grants.

ONE Haverhill is helping with funding for projects that can help with the roll out of the town's community budget scheme.

The budget is dedicated to providing youth services in the town and appointing community ambassadors to be the eyes and ears on the streets.

Grants of up to £5,000 are available.

Deadline is noon on September 12.

Go to www.onehaverhill.co.uk/community-grants to see the criteria, and for an application form.

The women who inspire

CHANGING your lifestyle and losing weight really turns your life around.

But how does it feel when your success inspires others to do the same?

A trio of slimmers from Haverhill have fought their food demons and shed a combined 12 stones – and now they're in the running for the woman of the year crown.

Jo Johnson, Rebecca Pilbrow and Charlie Hardy all attend Slimming World groups held at The Newcroft, in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill.

The women were chosen as the most inspirational slimmer in each of their groups over the past year.

They will now go onto the regional finals, held on September 15 in Bury, and if successful will proceed to the grand finals where a holiday to Marrakech is up for grabs.

Jo, 28, was inspired to change her ways so she could run around with her children Bradley, 4, and 3-year-old Lily-May.

Jo, from Exeter Court, Haverhill, has gone from 15st 3lbs to 11st 2.5lbs in six months.

She said: "Anyone who says that Slimming World doesn't work is lying."

"You don't have to give

anything up, you just have to change how you cook it or change your diet.

"It isn't a diet and it doesn't feel like a diet – it's a way of life."

Jo and her family have swapped frozen food and takeaways for fresh ingredients and lean meat – and the mum only has 13lbs to go until she's hit her target.

The 28-year-old had previously lost weight on the plan, but committed to it 100 per cent this time around.

She said: "I had had enough of being big and nothing fitting, and I wanted to change for my kids."

Rebecca, 33, made a change after spending her teenage years hiding food at the back of her wardrobe.

The 33-year-old, of Stephen Close, Haverhill, said she had "eyes bigger than her belly" and used to gorge on huge portions to satisfy hunger cravings.

She said: "I always had food in my room because if no one saw me eat it, it didn't count."

"My portion sizes were just horrendous for 20 years."

Slimming World worked for Rebecca because she didn't have to cut out her favourite foods – just eat them in moderation and make healthier choices.

She lost 3st and 10lbs, dropping from a size 16/18 to a size 8/10 – and now she loves to shop for clothes.

She said: "My mum used to hate going shopping with me because I would always end up hysterical on the changing room floor as everything looked horrible."

Charlie, 35, had a different motivation – and has lost 4st 13.5lbs since February.

She swapped a high-sugar diet for fruit, yoghurt and vegetables and recently took part in a 2k run held by her Slimming World Group.

The 35-year-old has hailed the healthy eating plan as "stunningly easy" and something she would recommend to anyone "in a heartbeat".

She said: "It's been absolutely amazing and I am stunned by the whole thing. I'm slimmer than I was when I was 12 years old."

Charlie, of Highfields, Clare, took up Slimming World after planning to go on a dream holiday – she wanted some pictures to be proud of.

For more on the Haverhill groups contact Tania Watson on 07974 565 229 for Wednesdays or Mel Laing on 07818 275743 for Tuesdays.

Let the new Arts Centre season entertain you this autumn

DUST off your dancing shoes and warm up your vocal chords for the new programme of shows at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The autumn season of entertainment is about to kick off – a packed list of music, drama and dance will keep you occupied until December.

Tonight, lose yourself in the evocative film of Peter Grimes on Aldeburgh Beach – shot on location in June.

The interpretation of Britten's opera – the most successful of post-war Britain – follows the story of protagonist Peter, branded a murderer by his local community.

Visitors to the Arts Centre on Saturday can tap their toes and clap their hands to the hits of Cliff Richards and The Shadows.

The golden hits, including Summer Holiday, Wonderful Life and Apache hit the spot for the end of the summer, and then you can look forward to the Christmas countdown.

Fight for town's streets continues

DEBRA FOX

A RESIDENTS' association is continuing the fight to improve the neighbourhood.

The Keep It Clean and Safe (KICS) residents' association in Haverhill has invited a seventh street, Clements Drive, to join the group.

Clements Close, Old Clements Lane, Montfort Court, Bedford Court, Beaconsfield Court and Clayhive Drive are also part of KICS.

Chairman Micka Guerit said that residents in the newest street addition have complained of vandalism and other problems with young people in the area.

She said: "I understand that they are suffering from a lot of anti-social behaviour from young people coming from the estate who are causing nuisance and damage to properties just for fun."

The group was first formed in Clements Close in April after residents in that street, including Micka, had enough of suffering in silence.

The chairman said the problems included fighting in the street, drug dealing and residents being intimidated by troublemakers.

ASSISTING: Cllr Julian Flood

Housing association Orbit is currently addressing complaints made by KICS members and Haverhill police are supporting the group in any way they can.

Their initial good work inspired other streets to join up and deal with their own problems head on.

Cllr Julian Flood, county councillor for the Haverhill and Cangle ward, has recently been assisting the group in addressing issues with street lighting in the area.

Micka said those living in Bedford Court want the lights kept on all through the night for safety reasons.

The UKIP councillor, who was elected to the seat in May, is supporting the street's efforts to stay safe and comfortable.

Cllr Flood said: "What I'm trying to help with at the moment seems almost impossible.

"It sounds simple – it isn't. But I'm sure we can find a compromise where the residents can one day control their own lights."

KICS is hoping to spread more awareness and urge others to respect the streets by organising a litter pick, to be held on October 6 from 2pm.

Micka said: "We would also like to point out to all those teenagers coming from the estate that it is their own area that they are turning into a tip."

SHAKESPEARE'S Globe will be touring the three Henry VI plays under their original titles – Harry the Sixth, The Houses of York & Lancaster and The True Tragedy of the Duke of York to Cambridge this autumn, as part of a large national tour that also takes in open air performances at Wars of the Roses battlefields.

The Henry VI plays begin with the death of Henry V and together chart the entirety of his son's turbulent reign. They encompass the stories of Joan of Arc, who is burnt at the stake at the end of Harry the Sixth, and Jack Cade, whose short-lived peasant rebellion is depicted in The Houses of York & Lancaster.

Yet at the heart of all three plays is the lethal struggle between York and Lancaster. The black comedy that builds with each reversal of power in The True Tragedy of the Duke of York ultimately sets the stage for the ascent of Shakespeare's demonic Richard III.

Although usually performed as a trilogy, the Henry VI plays were not intended as such and each one can be enjoyed without knowledge of the others. The Globe will present each of the three plays as stand-alone productions, emphasizing their individual strengths and qualities, while also providing the opportunity to see all three staged chronologically in a single day.

Overflowing with intrigue and violence, this was Shakespeare's first blockbuster history sequence and firmly established his reputation as one of the most popular playwrights of the Elizabethan age.

The three plays will be directed by Nick Bagnall, whose previous directing credits include Betrayal (Crucible Theatre, Sheffield) and Entertaining Mr Sloane (Trafalgar Studios).

The creative team also includes Tony-nominated designer Ti Green (Coram Boy, Imperial Theatre, New York, The Revenger's Tragedy, National Theatre); BAFTA-nominated composer Alex Baranowski (The Cripple of Inishmaan, Noel Coward Theatre) and Macbeth, (Trafalgar Studios).

● Harry the Sixth is showing at Cambridge Arts Theatre on Tuesday September 17 at 7.45pm and Saturday September 21 at 12.30pm; The Houses of York and Lancaster is on Wednesday September 18 at 7.45pm and on Thursday September 19 and Saturday September 21 at 4pm; and The True Tragedy of the Duke of York is on Thursday September 19, Friday September 20 and Saturday September 21 at 7.45pm. ■ THE MISUNDERSTOOD DR BEECHING on Friday September 13 is Shane Morgan's one-man show, a Wikipedic evening of storytelling, fact finding and legend building about the man often referred to as Britain's Most Hated Civil Servant, using real life accounts, uncovered anecdotes and seemingly unconnected facts (with a peppering of fictitious characters). Actor Shane Morgan and director Andy Burden celebrate the 50th anniversary of Beeching's Reshaping of British Railways by embracing their inner anorak and ripping the report wide open. It's like the best biopic with an all-star cast, but played by just one actor. This is quite a topic for Haverhill with the renewed resurgence of interest in re-opening the railway. The show pulls into the Arts Centre at 8pm! Tickets are £4.

film of the week

About Time (12A, 123 mins)
All good things must come to an end.

As a writer and more recently a director, Richard Curtis has warmed the cockles of the nation's heart with his rose-tinted romantic comedies that suggest every bumbling, accident-prone Englishman gets the impossibly beautiful girl with a combination of expletives, dry humour and good fortune.

Our love affair with Curtis started in 1994 with Four Wedding & A Funeral, which earned him an Oscar nomination for his screenplay, and has continued unabated through Bean, Notting Hill, Bridget Jones's Diary, Love Actually and various sequels.

About Time is purportedly his final film (as director – he'll carry on writing) and it is a fittingly amusing and heart-breaking swansong.

Set largely in London with occasional forays to the picturesque Cornish coast, this bittersweet romcom concerns not only saying goodbye to the people you love, but also bidding farewell to childhood and the safety net of a parent's guiding hand.

Admittedly, Curtis is guilty of old habits. His characters are almost exclusively white, upper middle class, and seem to be able to afford sizeable properties in the capital despite modest salaries. But once you accept that realism is a distant stranger to certain elements of the writing, About Time casts a heady spell.

Shortly after he turns 21, nice guy Tim (Domhnall Gleeson) is ushered into the office of his father (Bill Nighy) for a revealing heart-to-heart.

He reveals that Tim harks from a long line of male time travellers, who can go back along their own timeline to correct past mistakes and relive fond memories.

Sure enough, Tim is able to skip back through his personal history.

The young man begins to master this new skill, which comes in very handy when he crosses paths with an insecure beauty called Mary (Rachel McAdams) and bungles their first meeting.

With the benefit of time travel, Tim corrects wrinkles in the relationship and romance blossoms. However, every correction risks ripples through time and Tim gradually learns that there are some imperfections which must never be smoothed.

About Time is a treat. But keep plenty of handkerchiefs about your person – the final 15 minutes will wring you dry.

Forcing bulbs for the festive season

BARELY have you started to plant your spring-flowering bulbs, and it's already time to think about the winter and how to replicate these blooms indoors, without spending a fortune.

The answer is to 'force' bulbs into flower, that is give them assistance to bloom far earlier indoors than they would normally outside.

Garden centres should now be stocking up on bulbs which are sold specifically for forcing, which may include fragrant hyacinths, large-flowered crocus, hippeastrums, miniature daffodils and a few tulips, which should be marked 'prepared' in the shop.

By growing bulbs indoors, in a warmer atmosphere than they are accustomed to in the garden, for all or part of their growing season, they'll grow more quickly and flower earlier than they would otherwise. However, if you bring them on too quickly, they may fail.

You can use any type of pot because indoor bulbs can manage without drainage as they are being grown for such a short time, provided the container holds enough compost to accommodate the bulbs. It's worth spreading a layer of gravel at the bottom of the pot to help drainage.

For best results go for bulb fibre when growing bulbs in containers with no drainage, as it has plenty of air space and often contains added charcoal which keeps the compost fresh, even if it becomes too moist.

Alternatively, you can use multi-purpose compost.

Prepared hyacinths are the most popular bulbs for forcing and generally go on sale at the beginning of September, after being given a couple of weeks of cold treatment to make them think they've gone through winter.

Whatever you do, don't leave 'prepared' bulbs for a few weeks in a warm environment before planting, or they will lose the cold effect they were given initially. Instead, store them in a cool, dark place and plant them by the middle of September if you want them to flower by Christmas.

For the best effect, plant bulbs of the same colour together. They should be planted close together on top of a depth of at least 6cm of compost, so they are not quite touching one another. Then fill the bowl to just below the rim with compost, so their growing tips are just sticking out above the surface. Don't firm the bulb fibre down or it may hinder the root system establishing quickly. Make sure you don't overwater them, just water the compost lightly.

Place the container in a cool, dark place such as the shed or a closed cupboard in a cold room for 10-14 weeks, to encourage the flowering stems to develop before the leaves. It also enables the root system to become well-established. If the bulb fibre becomes dry at any time, water carefully between the bulbs.

Don't hurry them because insufficient time in the dark will result in stunted flowers or failure. When the leaf shoots are around 1-2in (4-5cm) high, move the container into a cool, light room. The flower buds which you can see between the tips of the leaves should just be starting to show signs of colour. If you remove the bulbs too early the leaves will grow too quickly and will obscure the flowers

If you want to delay flowering, put the bulbs outside in a sheltered position so the flowers develop more slowly, then move them inside, but not near a radiator.

Paperwhite narcissi and other dwarf narcissi may be given a cold preparation prior to sale and should be stored in a cold, dark place and then planted every couple of weeks from mid-

September onwards to give you a succession of blooms from November to January. All other narcissi apart from paperwhites should have around 17 weeks of cold before being brought indoors to flower, planting them as you would hyacinths.

Jaguar fans happiest

JAGUAR has come top in a car dealer satisfaction survey.

The dealers had the highest marks in the poll from information services company JD Power, with the results published in What Car? magazine.

It also topped a similar poll earlier this year for car satisfaction and this is the second year running that the luxury car company has been voted best dealer.

What Car? editor-in-chief Chas Hallett says: "Jaguar owners love their dealers as much as their cars, awarding their dealers top marks in the annual survey. "Jaguar is in an enviable position."

Customers liked Jaguar's friendly advisers, the flexibility and understanding in booking in their vehicles, convenient vehicle pick-ups and handovers, and the time spent explaining details of work required.

Second in the dealer rankings was Lexus, ahead of Honda, Mercedes-Benz, Land Rover and Toyota.

Chevrolet was at the bottom of the table, behind Alfa Romeo, Fiat, Peugeot and Mitsubishi.

THE F-TYPE: Part of a range that keeps fan base happy.

Hallett adds: "Good service makes all the difference. Every new car buyer deserves a friendly, efficient and value-for-money service from their dealership – whether the car is premium or bargain-basement."

The analysis was based on the opinions of 13,511 customers who had a service experience with their dealership within the past 12 months. Feedback was given on vehicles bought between January 2010 and December 2011.

Apprentice in line for Crown

DAMIEN ROBINSON, an apprentice technician at Crown Garage Honda of Soham and King's Lynn, has won a place in the final of the national Skill Auto competition.

Damien, aged 30, has been with Crown for two-and-a-half-years. Working exclusively on the Honda range of cars at Soham, Damien "lives and breathes mechanics," says managing director Andrew Harrison. "It's what he loves: he's had his chance later than most but he's grabbed it with both hands, is enjoying it and is an asset for the company. We're delighted he's achieved well-deserved national recognition."

"We've experienced year-on-year growth for the last 10 years," Andrew adds of the firm which started 77 years ago. "It's down to looking after customers, nothing else. We get people from all over and have a very loyal customer base and are getting new ones through the door regularly, especially at King's Lynn."

"It's fantastic the amount of support I've had from both Crown and from Honda," says Damien, who was a coach driver in Essex before joining Crown. "Being able to come into it at a late age is great, I really love my job!"

Contact Crown's sales director Derek Fisher on (01353) 720779 or go to crowngarage.co.uk.

C4 Picasso wins green MPV award

THE new C4 Picasso has won its first national award just a month after its successful UK launch in July, having been named 'Best MPV' at the 2013 Next Green Car Awards.

Sophisticated, practical and environmentally-considerate, the new model beat rivals Fiat 500L and Nissan Note to the prestigious prize, thanks to the next-generation C4 Picasso's enhanced efficiency, which emits CO2 emissions of just 98g/km and features a class-leading fuel economy of 74mpg.

Dr Ben Lane, managing editor of Next Green Car, said: "We are very pleased that the Citroen C4 Picasso 1.6 e-HDi is the winner of our MPV Award 2013. We have been very impressed by the new Citroen C4 Picasso which not only offers families an attractive, responsive, WINNER: The new Citroen C4 Picasso is the first MPV to deliver less than 100g/km of CO2.

economical compact MPV but also should be congratulated for being the first conventionally-powered MPV to break through the 100g CO2/km barrier with the resultant efficiencies."

The New C4 Picasso is the first production model available on PSA Peugeot Citroën's new EMP2 platform (Efficient Modular Platform 2), combining practicality and space with comfort and performance.

Marc Raven, communications director for Citroën UK, said: "To win this award so soon after the New C4 Picasso's UK launch confirms that the next-generation model has blended environmental engineering with presence and personality perfectly."

Next Green Car uses its unique Green Car Rating to rank the most environmentally-friendly new cars to come to market, honouring the most innovative and well-designed low-emission models with its annual awards.

The New C4 Picasso combines the latest technologies with improved aerodynamics to make family driving easy, safe and enjoyable. The award-winning e-HDi 90 Airdream ETG6 is available from £20,155.

INSIDE: The C4 Picasso is as cute as you'd expect.

Volkswagen enters e-fray

VOLKSWAGEN has entered the electric car race with two production-ready models: the e-Golf and the e-Up.

Both models use similar drivetrains, with the e-Golf's basically an up-scaled version with a more powerful motor and larger batteries. The 113bhp (85kW) electric motor in the Golf should provide a range of 118 miles, while the Up's system generates 81bhp (60kW) and a 100-mile range.

VW has designed the drivetrains from scratch, producing them entirely in-house to maintain quality control and developmental freedom.

With the news of the electric duo's arrival, Volkswagen claims that the e-Up sets an efficiency benchmark with 62 miles potentially costing less than £2.60; half what the same mileage would cost even in a very efficiently-driven petrol-powered Up. The same mileage in the e-Golf will cost 10 per cent more.

The technology involved should be familiar to anyone with a Nissan Leaf or any of Renault's electric Z.E. models.

Prices and on-sale dates are due in September.

Land Rover sponsors Burghley

FOR the ninth year Land Rover is sponsoring The Land Rover Burghley Horse Trials, taking place from September 5-8.

As per last year, Land Rover is encouraging show goers to take part in The Land Rover Perfect Tailgate Picnic Competition by preparing and bringing along their ultimate alfresco meal, then tweeting images to @landrover_uk with the hashtag: #lrrtailgate.

British Television presenter Kirstie Allsopp will take a tour of the dedicated picnic car park to check out the entrants' picnics. From 1.30pm-2.30pm Kirstie will judge the competition, picking a well-deserved winner and two runners-ups. The successful entrant will win a Land Rover Experience Adventure, to be redeemed at a Land Rover Experience Centre of their choice. Two runner-ups will win a bundle of Land Rover Goodies.

Last year, Zara Phillips judged the competition. She commented: "Land Rover vehicles have the best tailgates for picnics, so I was happy to take part. Judging was great fun and a lot of people had made a massive effort – the tablecloths, barbecues and gazebos were out in force. It was very hard to pick a winner."

Land Rover is renowned for its famous tailgate, a feature that is used throughout the year – most commonly as a seat platform, or a table. It is the perfect accessory for a summer picnic.

Condon claims Haverhill title

JACKIE Condon was the winner of Haverhill Golf Club's Ladies Championship.

In the 36-hole competition, she shot 91 and 85 to claim the scratch title with 176, edging out junior player Alice Iron by two (87, 91).

Gerrie Wheatley was third with 183 (91, 92), but she took the handicap competition with the best nett score of 139 (69, 70). Catie Heathfield was second with 140 (72, 68) and Alice Iron was third with 142 (69, 73).

Doreen Darbey won the Pam Ratford Trophy with nett 85, three clear of Gill Richardson.

In the Suffolk Junior Matchplay Championship at Fynn Valley Golf Club, Haverhill's Lewis Whiting won his first round match against Diss' Joshua Driver one up. Whiting, who plays off two, faced the host club's Jack Phillips in the quarter-final, and won two up to progress to the semi-finals.

In the last two, Whiting took on Hintlesham's Robert Salter and in a closely-fought match, Salter edged it to win one up. The eventual winner was Fynn Valley's Kane Mayes, who beat Salter 2&1.

Daniel Bentley and James Iron were the winners of Haverhill juniors' foursomes competition with nett 69. Matthew Carpenter and Billy Bush were second with nett 70, one better than Ollie Stevenson and Joshua Hulyer.

Haverhill ladies faced The Suffolk in a friendly, and they drew 2-2, while Gill Richardson, Wheatley, Doreen Crosbee and Darbey won the best score for the back nine at the Cannonsbrook Senior Ladies' Open.

Haverhill's Paul Wilby hosted his Professional's Day, which attracted a field of 16 teams from local clubs.

The format was teams of four, stableford played off ¾ handicap, with the best two scores from four to count.

The winners with a score of 89 points were Haverhill's Pat McGarr, Mick Dalena, James Lay and Chris Mellings. Colchester's Dave Blackmore, Cai James, Jake Farson and Kevin Prince were second with 85 and Haverhill's Steve Martin led his son Louis and fellow juniors James Iron and Stevenson to third with 84.

Haverhill's Janet Briggs hit the ladies' longest drive and the men's accolade went to clubmate Nigel Farenden.

Stevenson was nearest the pin on the second, Newton Green's Harry Wordley took the honours on the eighth and 12th and Haverhill's Howard Wood was closest on the 16th. The funds raised from the event go towards subsidising the assistant professional Ollie Rush's junior academy coaching sessions.

Poole knock not enough

DAN Poole's half-century could not prevent Haverhill losing by 48 runs at Hadleigh.

A partnership of 50 for the first wicket put Hadleigh in charge before Joe Woodley took a wicket.

Anthony Phillips replaced the ineffective Amit Gupta and was back to his early season bowling form, returning fine figures of 3 for 59.

It was not until the last 10 overs that Hadleigh got away, scoring 92 in that time thanks to some indifferent fielding and poor bowling to close on an impressive 262 for 7.

Haverhill's reply started with a flurry, scoring 39 in the first four overs before Adam Dellar chipped to deep mid-wicket.

Just one over later, Gupta (35) was bowled by a beauty.

Dan Pass and Luke Youngs added 20 before the latter was leg before and Kyle Blanchard followed in similar fashion. When Pass was caught behind, Haverhill had slumped to 80 for 5.

Phillips and Poole were now together and the pair played beautifully to add 65 in just 10 overs before Phillips (26) was apparently run out. Nigel Brunning was next in and he added 50 with Poole before the latter (54) was clean bowled by a ball that had just been changed. When Brunning fell for 21 in the next over, the writing was on the wall for the visitors.

Only captain Simon Youngs hung about as Haverhill were all out for 214.

Simon Youngs said: "Our fielding today was abysmal and they probably got 20 or 30 more than they should. "We made a fist of things because of Dan, Ant and Nigel's batting and perhaps would have gone close if not for Anthony's appalling decision."

Haverhill are Pflugh to the next play-off

RYAN Pflugh scored three runs as Haverhill Blackjacks came through their opening British Baseball Federation, Division A play-off match with a 12-8 win at home to Guildford Mavericks.

Blackjacks, who now travel to Slough on Sunday, got off to a fine start with Seb Schmidt setting them on their way.

Glenn Barton and Chris Highland added to the hosts' tally in the second inning before Tommy Opal made it 4-0, with Guildford floundering thanks to Haverhill's fine pitching and fielding.

But Mavericks pulled back two runs in the fourth inning before continuing their comeback with four more in the fifth, but Phillips and Pflugh levelled to make it 6-6 at the bottom of the inning.

After getting rid of Mavericks quickly in the seventh inning, Pflugh edged Haverhill back in front only for poor fielding to let the visitors back in with two runs at the top of the eighth.

But Blackjacks put the game out of reach with five runs, Opal's massive hit allowing himself, Phillips and Pflugh to get home with husband and wife duo Rob and Lynn Wood also scoring.

Borough continue strong start

GOALS from Callum Harrison and Owen Longley gave Haverhill Borough a comfortable 2-0 win against their derby rivals AFC Sudbury reserves last Saturday.

Borough started well, and a dummy by Harrison in the fourth minute put in Ryan Weaver who shot weakly at goalkeeper Luke Avenell.

A Longley cross was headed wide by Ben Bradley in the 23rd minute, but a minute later Borough were awarded a penalty after Harrison was deemed to be fouled by Sudbury's Stephen Adams. However, Weaver fired the resulting spot kick well over the bar.

Just after the half hour, a quick ball through saw Harrison evade the Sudbury back four, and although his initial shot was blocked by Avenell, the resulting scramble saw him collect the ball again in the middle of the Sudbury penalty area and fire it home.

Longley doubled the Borough lead five minutes after the break. A powerful run from the half way line took him into the Sudbury area, and although it appeared he had over-run the ball, he poked it past Avenell from a tight angle.

goalkeeper Anthony Choat. Harrison then shot wide from a Ben Bradley cross on the hour, before a clever through ball from Paul Hunt sent substitute Shaun Avis through. But he failed to get off a shot before the Sudbury defence blocked his route to goal.

Avis then turned provider as a fine cross from the left just evaded Bradley and Cody Frazier as they burst through the defence. With time running out, Choat was called on to make a save with his feet from James Crissol, but the result never seemed in doubt.

Positives for Greygoose as Haverhill exit FA Cup

HAVERHILL Rovers bowed out of the FA Cup after a 3-2 preliminary round defeat away to Ryman League, North Division side Needham Market last Saturday.

Haverhill led through Marcus Hunt, but Needham levelled on the stroke of half time through Sam Newson.

The hosts then took the lead thanks to Ian Westlake's strike just after the restart before Dan Cornwell evened things up in the 63rd minute after meeting Jack Wilkinson's cross.

Needham's Kieron Leabon then blazed a penalty over, but the home side snatched a late winner from Ollie Brown to deny Rovers a replay.

Despite the defeat, Rovers boss Dean Greygoose was pleased with his side's performance.

"When they missed their penalty, I thought that might mean the luck was going our way but it wasn't to be," said Greygoose.

"We played well and we've shown we can compete with teams at the level above, which is where we want to be.

"I've got a 16-year-old and an 18-year-old playing in the first team, and the rest are all around 20 or 21 so there is a lot to be positive about."

Rovers are in cup action again this weekend when they host Stanway in the first qualifying round of the FA Vase this Saturday.
